A sincere thank you to all who responded so generously to Pope Francis' appeal for funds to "alleviate the material needs" of all who are suffering "the consequences of the violence" in Ukraine. Pope Francis said he hoped this gesture might "help to promote peace and respect for law without further delay in this sorely tested land." Pope Francis has been concerned about the dramatic situation in Ukraine, where tensions with Russian separatists persist. The Pope drew the world's attention to "the consequences of violence" and ongoing hostilities in Ukraine, noting that thousands have been killed and more than a million have had to leave their homes.
