Listen, That You May Know:

"If today you hear God's voice, harden not your hearts.

Try to think of listening as an essential part of prayer. You pray, and you hear the voice of God speaking to you very gently, not aloud, but deep in your heart. If you listen carefully, you will indeed begin to know God's will for you.

God wants us to do his will, and he gives himself to us continually, that we might follow in his footsteps.

Because you are in love with God, you can relate to him as you would relate to a friend. You can talk to God in order to find out what he thinks. You want to do as he suggests. Listen to him, then, that you may know. God speaks quietly, very quietly, but he does speak, and he will make known to you what he wants you to do.

You will do God's will, and it will be beautiful. To do what God wants is to be truly happy. Sometimes his will may appear to bring pain, but it will also bring you joy. To give ourselves wholly to God, in prayer and in action, is the life of a Christian, and in it we discover joy so immense that our ordinary, everyday life is completely transformed.

We find ourselves living in a new reality.
