Excerpt from Mgr Farrell's Address on announcement of his nomination as Bishop of Ossory:

"I am humbled by this call from the Church. I have been a priest for over 37 years; half of that time in parish ministry where I have always been very happy and fulfilled. Of course, this is why I became a priest in the first instance: to work with people, in their service, in the service of the Lord, and of his gospel, of Christ's good news about God, about us, and about our world.

This request was made to me a few days before Christmas, a time when Mary's "yes" to God fills the Scripture readings of those final days of Advent. What strikes me is Mary's courage, and her trust in the word of the angel. She is perplexed, she wonders what this greeting might mean, and yet she trusts in the goodness of God, and in God's providence. She steps into the unknown.

Like Mary's decision, and most major decisions in life, being called to be a bishop is also a step into the unknown. If we are honest, to be called to be a bishop in the Ireland of today is even more a step into the unknown. It is also a call to trust in the Lord, and in providence of God.

Every person lives with mystery. None of us can predict how what happens today will influence and affect our future or the future of others. Part of being people of faith is trusting that, in God's hands, our lives will bear fruit... As you will understand, there is a certain sadness in leaving my own home diocese of Meath, and in particular, the Parish of Dunboyne & Kilbride and its people, among whom I have been very fulfilled in my pastoral ministry".

Warmest congratulations and best wishes to Monsignor Dermot Farrell on his appointment as bishop from all in the parish of Dunboyne and Kilbride, with gratitude for all his dedication to our parish community. Ad Multos Annos.
